Response to Amendment

Amendment, filed on 24 April 2006 has been considered and entered.

In the listing of amended claims claim 3 has been cancelled.

However, canceled claims must be listed by only the claim number and status identifier, without presenting the text of the claims (see MPEP 714 [R-3]).

Claims 1-2, 4-8 are currently pending.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

A broad range or limitation together with a narrow range or limitation that falls within the broad range or limitation (in the same claim) is considered indefinite, since the resulting claim does not clearly set forth the metes and bounds of the patent protection desired. See MPEP § 2173.05(c). Note the explanation given by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences in Ex parte Wu, 10 USPQ2d 2031, 2033 (Bd. Pat. App. & Inter. 1989), as to where broad language is followed by "such as" and then narrow language. The Board stated that this can render a claim indefinite by raising a question or doubt as to whether the feature introduced by such language is (a) merely exemplary of the remainder of the claim, and therefore not required, or (b) a required feature of the claims. Note also, for example, the decisions of Ex parte Steigewald, 131

Art Unit: 2879

USPQ 74 (Bd. App. 1961); Ex parte Hall, 83 USPQ 38 (Bd. App. 1948); and Ex parte Hasche, 86 USPQ 481 (Bd. App. 1949). In the present instance, claim 1 recites the broad recitation "a high-melting metal from the group of the platinum metal", and the claim also recites "one of the metals , ruthenium, iridium, osmium and rhodium" which is the narrower statement of the limitation, since platinum metal group includes more metals besides ruthenium, iridium, osmium and rhodium.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-2, 4, 6-7 and 8 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Yoshida et al. (US 6809478).

Regarding claims 1-2, 4 & 8, Yoshida discloses a metal halide discharge lamp (Fig 1 & 2) comprising a discharge vessel (arc tube 1) in whose interior an ionizable filling (luminous material 13 and buffer gas 14) is enclosed in a gas tight manner, the discharge vessel having at least one sealed-off end (5, 6) which is provided with a current feed through (9, 10) being connected to an electrode (3,4) which protrudes into the interior of the discharge vessel (see Fig1) and has a section of the electrode extends into the sealed off end (Indicated by Ds in Fig 1) wherein the entire section of the electrode which extends into the sealed off region is coated with platinum metal such as ruthenium or rhodium (line 62 of column 6-line 23 of column 7).

Regarding claim 6, Yoshida discloses that electrode (3, 4) is made of tungsten (lines 4-5 of column 7 & line 64 of column 6).

Regarding claim 7, Yoshida discloses that the discharge vessel consists of quartz glass (line 63 of column 6).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yoshida et al. (US 6809478).

Regarding claim 5, Yoshida discloses all the limitations of claim 5, except for the thickness of the coating being at least 100nm.

However, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have coating of at least 100nm or greater since it has been held that discovering an optimum value of a result, effective variable involves only routine skill in the art. In re Boesch, 617 F.2d 272, 205 USPQ 215 (CCPA 1980).
